Metro Unveils San Fernando Artist's Poster in the "Through the Eyes of Artists" Series

Image Source: Sarah Stone

The latest addition to Metro Art's Through the Eyes of Artists poster series highlights

Northridge as seen through the eyes of San Fernando Valley artist, Sarah Stone, as she illustrates the presence of the natural world in everyday suburban life. The image depicts a range of neighborhood landmarks frequented by locals — the tranquil CSUN Orange Grove and duck pond, Soraya Valley Performing Arts Center, and the Museum of the San Fernando Valley — connected via scenic bike paths. Viewers are also welcomed by the native California Scrub Jay.

The popular series has showcased diverse neighborhoods around Los Angeles County and encourages riders to explore new and familiar Metro-accessible destinations.

California Approves $1.4 Billion to Build More Zero-Emission Vehicle Infrastructure

Image Source: California Energy Commission

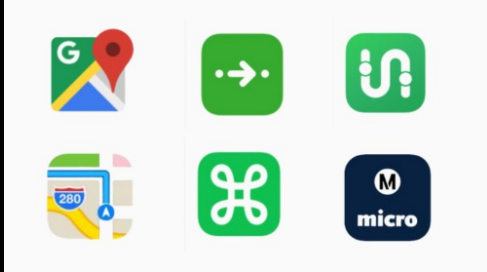

The California Energy Commission approved $1.4 billion to accelerate the state's electric vehicle and hydrogen refueling goals. The investments are intended to fund infrastructure for light, medium, and heavy-duty zero-emission vehicles (ZEV) and expand the charging and hydrogen refueling network. California transit agencies must convert to ZEVs by 2040 per the Innovative Clean Transit regulation, and improving electric charging and hydrogen refueling infrastructure will help ensure a smoother transition.

The Newsom Administration is prioritizing clean fuel production, public transit and rail infrastructure enhancements, and a cleaner, smarter electric grid to help power it all.
